PRINCETON LADS WILL BE HEARD FROM THIS YEAR

Veterans Will be Back and Team Looks to be the Strongest in the East. Many Youngsters.

By Frank G. Menke.
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Watch Princeton!

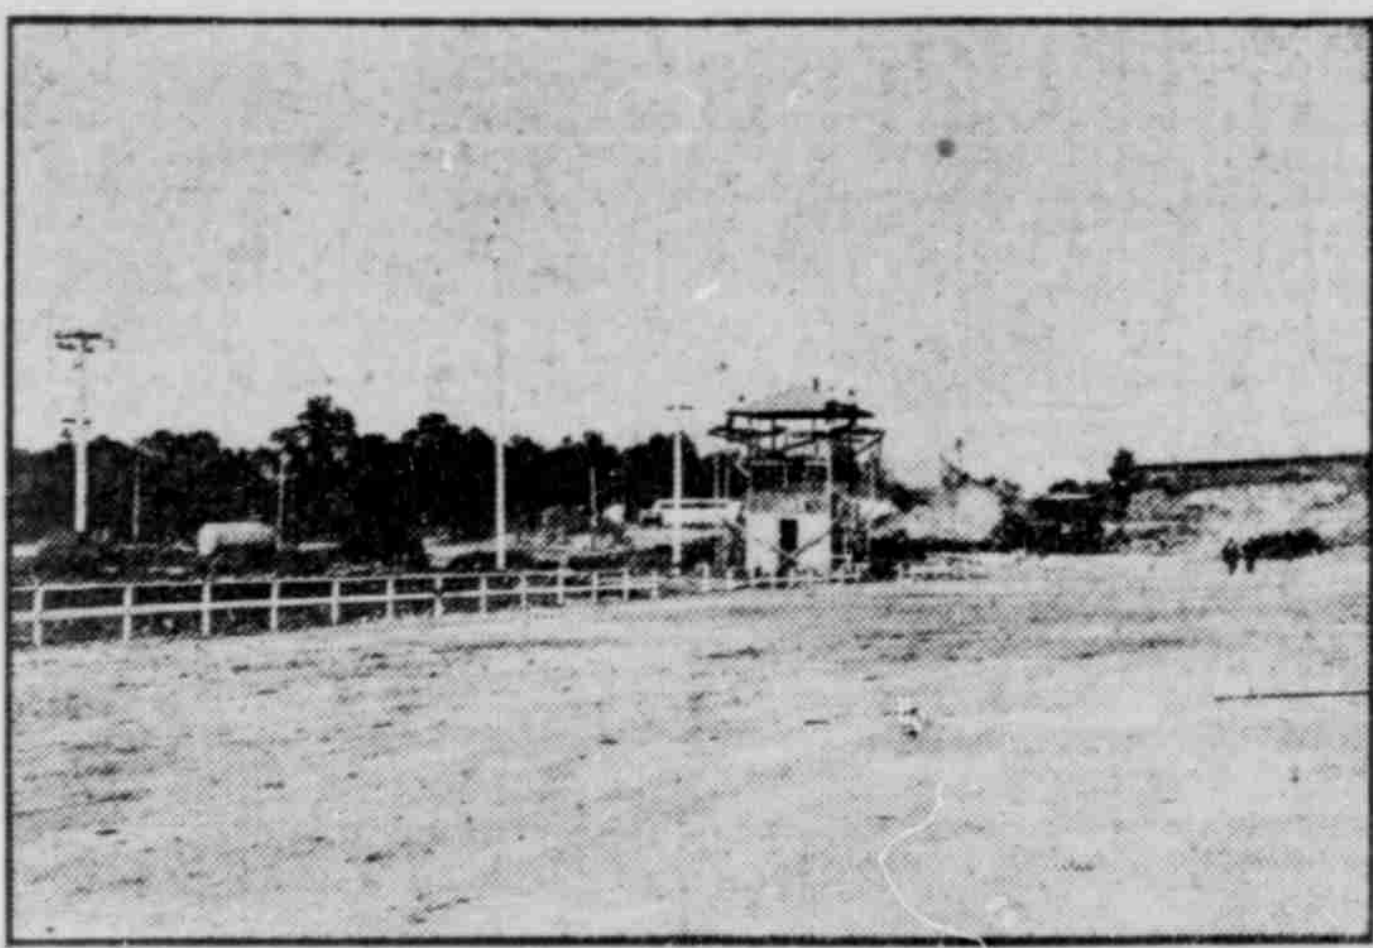

From this early September angle it looks as though there will be very little—if any—existing of the Tiger's tail this year, because Princeton looms up right now as a power that may crush in its mighty jaws every enemy that offers it battle.

Princeton jumps into the season with nine backfield men and 10 linemen left from its 1914 team and with a new coach—John H. "Speedy" Rush, who is touted as one of the best little football educators in these brave and free United States.

In addition to the seasoned veterans from last year, about 20 players who starred on the 1914 freshmen eleven, are up for a try for the varsity this year. No football coach in the history of the game ever had better material at his disposal than Rush has today and if he doesn't weld together a whirlwind eleven it will be a mighty surprise.

Eddie Trenkman, Shenk and Balleen, all linemen, and Freddie Trenkman, fullback, were the only regulars that Princeton lost by June graduations, and there are a dozen cracking good players ready—and able—to plug up the gaps they have left in the eleven.

These are the nine backs who are trying for one of the regular backfield jobs—Glick (quarterback), Ames and Eberstadt, quarterbacks; Dickerman, Boland, Moore, Driggs, Tibbett and Law, halfbacks or fullbacks.

It was the combination of Glick, Moore and Driggs and Dickerman, rushed in as the secondary backfield against Yale last year, that tore the Yale shreds in the last period of play. It was this quartet that took up the battle when it stood 19 to 0 against Princeton, scored two touchdowns by the greatest line of footballing ever shown anywhere, and was well on its way to a third touchdown when the final whistle forced the four to cease their merciless hammering against the broken Yale line.

And it looks as if this combination will constitute the regular Princeton backfield this year, although Law, a mighty booter, and Tibbett may beat out Driggs or Dickerman.

Nourse and Bennett are the candidates for center. Both are good men, but the chances are that Bennett will land the job as regular. Foster and Heyinger will win the guard positions unless one or another of this year's "freshers" shows something remarkable. McLean, the regular tackle of last year, is sure of the same job this year. I. B. Bieker and Hoger are the best looking candidates for Ballin's old job at tackle.

There are nine candidates for the wing positions—four newcomers and five men who got a lot of experience last year. Shea, the regular in 1914, is almost a certainty as one of the ends, with Lambertson, Brown, Charles and Higley battling for the job of guarding the other flank. Of the four, Lambertson has the best chance, although Higley is a speedy man, a sure tackler and a fine receiver of forward passes.

1916 Outlook Bright Too.

The best part of the Princeton outlook is that the majority of the men who will make up the team this year are juniors, which means that they will have another year of this one in which to further the gridiron honor and glory of their alma maters. Tibbett, Driggs, Ames, Eberstadt, Dickerman, Moore, Nourse, Gennert, Foster, McLean, Higley, Hoger, Charles and Higley all are juniors. The only men Princeton will lose by 1916 graduations are: Heyinger, Love, Shea, Brown, Lambertson, Boland, Law and Glick.

Two things counted against Princeton last year; its men lacked experience and the coaching system was a joke. This year finds those faults removed. Every one of the best looking Princeton candidates got a good lot of seasoning last year—and Rush gives evidence already of being a real coach. One thing is sure—he will be the coach at Princeton this year, and there won't be dabbling by a dozen coaches, assistant coaches, as was the case in 1914. Which causes us to conclude with the injunction: Watch Princeton.

METZLER LINES UP TWO ELEVEN FOR FIRST TIME

For the first time this year Coach Metzler of the high school squad lined up two elevens and for several hours last night he had them run plays up and down the field till most of the players were ready to quit.

On one eleven he had Steller for center, Kreighbaum and DeComb as guards, Stouffer and Burner tackles. While on the ends he placed Makiel and Rokop. For the backfield he had Mohn at quarter, Kelly and Wutrick at the halves, while Sweeney occupied the full back position.

On the other eleven he had Shock at center, Hoffman and Miller guards, Cole and Donovan tackles, while at the ends there was Snyder and Butler. In the back field there was Nyikos at quarter, Strang and Findlay halves and Metzler fullback.

On account of the fair this afternoon there will be no practice. On Wednesday afternoon there will be the first blackboard drill of the season.

Lid on Racing off Today After Twenty-Two Years

After a lapse of 22 years, the lid will be pried off the racing game in South Bend at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon at the Springbrook track, where three speed events will be held in connection with the Interstate fair.

With weather like that of Monday, a great send-off will be given to the sport of kings here, as the pick of the fair circuit horses will be seen in action for the large purses offered by the St. Joseph County Fair and Amusement association, under whose auspices the race meet is to be given.

Thanks to the sportsmanship of J. A. Clark of this city, the Tuesday card will start with the Kable restaurant stake for 2:24 pacers, carrying a $1,000 purse. Although this race did not start, giving Mr. Clark a chance to withdraw his offer of guaranteeing the big purse, the local manager of the Kable restaurant proved his thorough sportsmanship by insisting that the stake should be raced just the same, despite the fact that he was compelled to furnish the greater portion of the money himself.

Local Horse a Favorite.
Local fans are expecting to see this stake race won by a South Bend horse, the great undefeated filly, South Bend Girl, owned by S. A. Russ. Although the star pacer has been out but little over a year, she has hung up a great record, winning her four races in straight heats. She is a Great Heart colt, with a mark of 2-14 1-2.

Pitted against South Bend Girl is Mike the Tramp, said to be the biggest race horse on any of the western circuits, and easily the largest animal entered in any of the speed events here. Mike the Tramp started in his first race at Goshen two weeks ago, but despite this lack of education, Joe Allan of Niles, who is handling the big gelding, is planning on giving the other contenders for the $1,000 stake a race.

The Problem, a brown stallion by Cochato, of the stables of Henry Hawkins of Springfield, Ill., Ruth Granet, sorrel mare, entered by Milo Powers of Indianapolis; Miss Pribble, owned by Everett Campbell of Campbelltown, Ohio, and Fairy Richmond, by New Richmond, entered by G. W. Millikan of Muncie, are other entries in the stake race. These pacers have not been raced in the same circuits with the major part of the $1,000 purse.

Three Local Horses in 2:27.
South Bend will be represented by three horses in the 2:27 trot, the second race on today's card. M. L., the big black mare owned by Howard Loomley, L. A. S., entered by L. W. Lower, speed superintendent for the fair, and Baron Princeton, a black stallion owned by C. E. King, will compete with a strong field of horses from outside the city. All of the three local horses are by Loyal Baron.

Two favorites in the trotting event are Orange Blossom, a bay gelding by Dutchland, owned by J. J. Brubaker of Mishawaka, and Micharry, a russet gelding by Red Lac, entered by Charles S. Jackson of Chicago. Mr. Jackson, the driver, who drove Micharry to victory at Three Rivers last week, will arrive from Chicago today, and will be behind the trotter this afternoon.

Six of the best green pacers of St. Joseph county will race for the $100 purse offered in the 2:40 county pace. Of this number, Billy Mack, entered by John MacManus, looks to be the best of the field. The black gelding has an interesting history, as well as a creditable record in the few races in which he has started. Billy Mack, who is now an eight-year-old, worked for five years on a tobacco wagon at Kalamazoo, Mich. During the last three years he has improved with each workout, and is in fine racing shape at the present time. Mr. MacManus jogged him a quarter in 40 seconds on Saturday, and is expecting to give the field a hard race.

Club for Parade.
At 1:30 o'clock the members of the newly organized South Bend and Mishawaka Driving club will parade in front of the grandstand, together with some of the men who have been instrumental in reviving racing here. Fifteen minutes later, Starting Judge Fleming will begin scoring the horses for the Kable restaurant stake.

SYRACUSE RACES PUT OFF

Rain Interferes and But One Event is Run.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Rain interfered with the opening of the Grand Circuit here Monday, only one heat being raced. Heavy showers during the day put the track in such bad condition that the first race was not called until after 4 o'clock. This was an event for local two-year-old trotters and the first heat went to Dunloch with Revelry second. Another heavy shower then fell and the races were postponed until Tuesday.

COFALL BACK IN FIELD

Stanley Cofall, Notre Dame's crack half back, returned to the university yesterday and was out for the afternoon practice. Keefe, one of the best guards in the west, is another man who came out for practice for the first time last night.

"Young Dutch" Bergman, whose brother was the sensational player on last year's team, is striving hard to take his brother's place at quarter. Probably one of the best tackles in the country can be made of Rydzinski in a few years but he is working under the handicap of never playing with the varsity before, however, he is one of the last year's freshman squad that is creating a great amount of comment among the critics.

McInerney looks like a comer, said Coach Harper, last night. He is working hard at center and is taking off some weight. When he came from Cedar Point he weighed 234 pounds, and last night he weighed 224. He is a consistent player and will probably land a position on this year's team, but like Rydzinski, he is making his first attempt to get on the varsity squad.

Six hours a day at hard work, three in the morning and three in the afternoon, is the prescription given the players by Coach Harper. At the end of the long drills the new men are willing to take a short vacation, but even then they are instructed how to keep in shape. Harper realizes that work and plenty of it will be required for the hard schedule which he has arranged for this year.

CONVICT TEAM LOSES

Prisoners at Kansas City See League Team in Action.

LEAVENWORTH, Kans., Sept. 14.—The Kansas City Federal club defeated the White Sox of the Federal prison league yesterday 2-1. It was the first time a professional baseball team had played inside the government prison walls. More than 1,500 convicts who had earned a ticket to the game by good behavior witnessed the exhibition.

SCOTT TO LAKE FOREST

Joseph "Colonel" Scott of high athletics fame left yesterday for Lake Forest academy at Lake Forest, Ill., where he will attend this year.

While he was at the local high he had the distinction of being the only man to receive four monograms in the last several years. His all-around ability and fighting spirit is sure to get him a berth on the Lake Forest eleven this fall.

ORDER FOR SHRAPNEL

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 14.—Despite much secrecy, the Westinghouse company, it was learned Monday night, has received an immense order from United States government for a new deadly missile of its kind in the world. The new shells are of six-inch calibre and are 21 inches long. They contain eight separate parts, each honey-combed. The most destructive explosive known to powder makers, and said to be a late invention will be used.

PHILLIES LOOK TO BE BEST BET IN NATIONAL BUNCH

Two Other Teams Have No Chance Unless Western Teams Can Pull Down Leader.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—It's a pretty bet that the Phillies will represent the National league in the playing of the next world's series. With a lead of four games over the Dodgers and five games over the Braves, and with the season ending in three weeks, it is not likely that Moran's men will be head.

One week ago, the Phillies were only one game ahead of the Dodgers. There were cries of the team going to "crack." But the dope was wrong. Since then Moran's men have won six straight games, have increased their advantage and are playing stronger ball today than they did a month ago.

Stallions says the Braves will repeat; Robinson says the Dodgers will come through. But these two teams will have to do some talk playing if they want to land the bunting. Of the two the Braves have the outside chance. They have been through the grind, play as good as dead at home, while the Dodgers weakness this year has been the poor playing of the team while on the road.

The only way the Dodgers and Braves can get in on the Phillies will be through the western teams. If the latter can down the Phillies the other eastern members of the league may have a chance. But it must not be forgotten that both contenders are playing the same teams that the Phillies must clash with.

And Moran still has an "ace in the hole." He has not worked his one best bet—Grover Alexander—to death. He has pitched him in turn. Should the race tighten up again Moran could shoot the "king" in every third game, and its a safe bet that his star would win more games than he lost if Moran is forced to use him so often. Should the race tighten up a little before the teams again return to the east then the series that the Phillies have to play with Boston and Brooklyn may have a bearing on the ultimate result.

Beginning today, the Phillies have 22 more games to play—19 abroad and three at home; the Braves schedule calls for 22 more games—13 abroad and nine at home, while the Dodgers have only 19 to play and all but one of them, will be away from home.
